For Cheryl Miller – the person I knew.

Cheryl was a single mom who raised two great young men, Michael and Kenny. She was diagnosed with Thyroid cancer many years ago, and with their strength and support she survived.

I can't believe that she ever met anyone she didn't like. She was always so positive about everything. Her stitching speaks for itself. She was a master of color and design. She never turned her back on a stitcher in need, personalizing samplers, helping with colors, changing the design – what ever it took – Cheryl did it. When we lost a member, Cheryl was the first to come forward and personalize something in their memory, no one asked her to - she just did it because it meant so much to her. (Now it is our turn).

Color – OH she loved bright colors. VERY BRIGHT colors. She just had the eye for putting colors next to each other, she would use what she had in her stash – and it always looked wonderful together. Like others, I wish I could do that – but I depended on Cheryl's eye for that.

Cheryl loved her stitching and her stitching friends. She was known for putting people in touch with just the right people. She put people who designed with people who dyed threads and fabric. She checked out information on the web to help designers and dyers, hoping to help them. She just seemed to know the right combinations to put together.

When you read Cheryl's emails – you could hear her smiling. Making jokes, Poking fun at whomever it was directed at. (Usually Marc) She was a friend to many, and we will always remember her in our stitching. Most will remember Cheryl because she personalized something for us, or gave us an idea to change colors, or change part of the design. What ever it was - she will be missed.
